

CONTENTS

List of figures	xi
Preface	xvii
Abbreviations	xx

1 Setting the scene – Bronze and Iron Ages 1

Environment 4

A high place 5

Bronze Age (c.3600–c.1200 BC) 8

Amorites (c.2000–1595 BC) 8

Going by The Book 9

Hittite dominance (Halab, 1595–c.1200 BC) 11

Mitanni, Hittite kingdom and Egypt (c.1500–1274 BC) 12

The Storm God 13

Transition to the Iron Age (c.1200–900 BC) 15

‘Aramaean’ and ‘Neo-Hittite States’ (c.1100–c.900 BC) 17

Trade 20

Art 21

Neo-Assyrian dominance (883–612 BC) 22

Neo-Babylonian and Persian rule (612–333 BC) 25

Alexander (333–323 BC) 26

2 Greek and Roman Aleppo 28

Seleucus' tetrapolis 31

Hellenistic Aleppo (Beroia) 32

Hellenisation 33

A new city centre 34

The Syrian Goddess 35

Collapse (c.100–65 BC) 36

Enter Rome (64 bc)	38
End of the Seleucids	38
Parthia – threat or opportunity?	39
Roman Beroia	40
Wider challenges	44
The Judaeian experience	44
Military build up	45
A new Persian threat	46
From pagan to Christian – the Byzantine transition	47
Failed mission	49
 3 In Antioch's orbit – Byzantine Aleppo in a world of churches and monasteries (353–637)	 54
Bidding for God	54
A world of churches	55
Church of St Simeon	56
Cathedral of St Helen	60
The Bandara Synagogue	64
Fortress City	65
The Eastern threat	66
Sasanian occupation (AD 611–28)	70
 4 Transition to an Islamic Order – Aleppo on a new frontier (637–947)	 72
A soft transition	72
Consolidating Islamic rule	74
Qinnisrin	75
Rightly Guided Caliphs (640–60)	77
The Umayyads 661–750	77
The Aleppo Great Mosque	79
From forum to suq	81
The 'Abbasids, rule from Iraq	83
'Abbasid decline	85
 5 A delicate balance – between Turkic and Arab worlds (947–1097)	 88
Enter the Turks . . .	88
. . . via Egypt	89

Hamdanids (in Aleppo 947–1004) 90

‘The platform’ 92

Byzantines return (962–1084) 92

A religious mosaic 94

Playing off Byzantines vs Fatimids 96

A self-serving court; a glorious failure? 96

Curtain-raiser to the Crusades? 97

Mirdasids (1024–80) 99

The Turcoman factor 100

Seljuk foothold in Aleppo 1071 101

Manzikert 1071 101

Seljuks take direct power in Aleppo (1086) 102

The testament of the Great Mosque minaret

1090–4 103

6 Fortress of Islam – Aleppo and the First Crusade (1098–1127)

107

A Christian jihad? 107

Investing Antioch (1097–8) 109

Antioch vs Aleppo (1098–1119) 111

War aims 111

On to Jerusalem 113

The Antioch/Aleppo Front 1098–1120 114

Rising discontent in Aleppo 118

The Field of Blood 1119 120

Aleppo besieged 1124–5 122

7 Zengid Aleppo (1127–74)

124

Zengids 124

A saviour – ‘Imad al-Din Zengi 124

Holy and war 125

Byzantine designs on Aleppo 1137 125

The first madrasas 126

Zengi’s new agenda (1128–46) 126

The ascent of Nur al-Din Zengi (r.1146–74) 128

The Second Crusade 1148 128

Nur al-Din wins Damascus 1154 129

Building on message 130

On Abraham’s path 134

Into Egypt 136

Switching Caliphs 138

A mixed city 139

8 Saladin and the Ayyubids (1174–1260)

142

Saladin extends his rule 142

A question of authority 144

Al-Zahir Ghazi (r.1186–1216) 145

Surviving the transition 147

The northern front after 1188, trade 148

Ayyubid building program – the ‘Chosen Pearls’ 150

A princely Citadel 152

Prototype of Islamic fortifications 154

Ayyubid stability 156

Fostering piety 158

Anticipating paradise 160

A new axis 163

9 A wider world opens – Aleppo under the Mamluks (1260–1516)

168

Mongols (1258–60) 168

The Great and Lesser Khans 169

Aleppo falls to the Mongols 1260 169

The Bahri Mamluks (1260–1382) 173

Baybars (r.1260–77) 173

Securing Aleppo 175

Taking Antioch 1264–8 176

A city on its knees? Aleppo in the 1260s 178

Building the Mamluk world 179

First impressions 185

Tamerlane 1400 188

Recovery 190

A trading city, the suqs 192

Burji Mamluks (1382–1516) 194

The Venetian presence 194

Khans and palaces 196

A lost cause, 1516 (Marj Dabiq) 198

An accidental conquest? 199

10	The first Ottoman centuries (1516–1750)	202
	Planting the Ottoman imperium	203
	Aleppo in the Ottoman world	205
	Faith and trade	206
	The 'Silk Route'	207
	An Ottoman 'image'	209
	A monumental axis	210
	al-Khusrofiye (Mosque-Madrassa of Khusrof Pasha)	212
	al-'Adeliye (Mosque of Dukakinzade Mehmet Pasha)	214
	Khan al-Jumruk	215
	al-Bahramiye (Mosque of Bahram Pasha)	216
	City within a city – al-Medina	218
	City administrative structures	219
	Strangers in the city	220
	'An Epitome of the Whole World'	224
	European life in the Medina	225
	Elite housing	229
	Beyond the walls	231
	A 'new' quarter (Jdeide)	231
	Other extra-mural offshoots	232
	The Hajj	233
	Aleppo's decline	234
	Population displacement	234
	Khan al-Wazir	237
	Heavy hand of centralism	237
	The religious 'fringe'	239
	Inquiring minds	241
	End of the silk route	243
11	Modernising Aleppo (1750–2000)	247
	Waning of authority	247
	Rule by consensus?	248
	Embracing Rome	250
	Return to an 'imperial' style	251
	Disintegration and invasion	252
	Revolt in Egypt	254
	Egyptian occupation 1831–40	254
	A 'reordering' (Tanzimat)	255
	1850 anti-Christian disturbances	255

Arabs in the late Ottoman world	257
Reign of Abdul Hamid (1876–1909)	258
A troubled ‘Golden Age’	258
‘Shadow of God on Earth’ – the Sultan-Caliph	258
Co-opting ‘Arabistan’	259
Hamidism in architecture	260
Binding Aleppo by rail	262
End of the House of Osman 1909–20	264
The ‘Young Turks’ and Arab nationalism	264
1915, collapse of Ottomanism by consensus	266
Armenian deportations	266
Aleppo at war’s end	268
Liberation from what?	269
New frontiers	270
A mandate for confusion (1920–46)	271
The jigsaw	272
The big loser	273
Losing Antioch	275
Terminating the Mandate	275
Aleppo’s loss of innocence	276
 Postscript	 280
Boxed in	281
Fighting back	281
Living off the past	281
Keeping a healthy distance	283
The Baathist ‘Revolution’	284
Rescuing ancient Aleppo	284
Town planning	286
2011	288
A war for (or against?) Aleppo	290
Hussein’s lost child	291
Another view from the platform	291
A confected Doomsday	293
 Appendix – Maps of Aleppo	 295
Glossary	299
Bibliography	306
Index	325