

Contents

List of figures and tables	vii
Notes on contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xiv
one	Introduction: new economies North and South – sharing the transition to a just and sustainable future Peter North and Molly Scott Cato	1
Part I:	Theoretical perspectives on the social and solidarity economy	13 two	Towards a new economics: concepts and experiences from Latin America José Luis Coraggio	15 three	Monsieur le Capital and Madame la Terre on the brink Penelope Ciancanelli and David Fasenfest	37 four	Co-construction or prefiguration? The problem of the 'translation' of social and solidarity economy practices into policy Ana Cecilia Dinerstein	57 five	Transitioning towards low carbon solidarity economies? Peter North	73
Part II:	The social and solidarity economy as a site of social innovation	97 six	Innovation, cooperatives and inclusive development: rethinking technological change and social inclusion Lucas Becerra and Hernán Thomas	99
seven	Brazil's social economic incubators Reinaldo Pacheco da Costa	117 eight	The role of universities in the sustainable evolution of solidarity economies Luiz Roberto Alves, Marco Aurelio Bernardes, Victor Gil Neto and Waverli Maia Matarazzo-Neuberger	135
nine	Fundos de Pasto : community governance of common resources in north-east Brazil Erica Imbirussú, Gilca Garcia de Oliveira and Guiomar Inez Germani	155

Part III: The social and solidarity economy and the state	177 ten The Danish low carbon transition and the prospects for the democratic economy Andrew Cumbers	179 eleven Solidarity economy dialogue in Latin America: transferring Argentine experiences of social currencies to Brazil Paul I. Singer and Heloisa H. Primavera	195 twelve Twenty-first century socialism? Venezuela's solidarity, social, popular and communal economy Dario Azzellini	213
 Part IV: Policy translation between North and South	 233 thirteen Being a Zapatista wherever you are: reflections on academic-activist practice from Latin America to the UK Paul Chatterton	235 fourteen Living sín patrón : lessons from Argentina's societies in movement Marina Sitrin	257
fifteen The social and solidarity economy in Argentina and the UK: convergence from opposite directions Molly Scott Cato and Paola Raffaelli	275 sixteen Conclusion: lessons learned and tensions exposed Peter North, Molly Scott Cato, and the participants in our discussions (Liverpool and Buenos Aires)	295
 Index	 305